

Code Of Conduct - HackIIITD

HackIIITD is a community event for developers and coders to have a platform for learning and collaborating in the developer community. Our vision is to provide the best possible experience for the participants. With this vision in mind, all participants are expected to show respect and courtesy to others throughout the event. To make clear what is expected, all the staff, participants, judges and mentors are required to confirm the following Code of Conduct. The organisers will be enforcing this code of conduct throughout the event.

- Offensive behavior related to gender, gender identity and expression, age, sexual orientation, disability, physical appearance, body size, race, ethnicity, nationality, or religion
- Sexual images in public spaces
- Deliberate intimidation
- Stalking, following, photography or audio/video recording against any reasonable consent
- Sustained disruption of talks or other events
- Inappropriate physical contact/unwelcome sexual attention

If an organizer or another hacker notices that any of the activities above are taking place, then they have the full authority to ask the offender to stop it and it is expected of the offender to comply immediately.

HackIIITD will have the final call about what course of action will be taken against the offender in response to any of the incidents which includes the possibility of expelling the participant from the event.

Reporting Protocol:

If you feel uncomfortable or think there may have been a potential violation of the code of conduct, please report it immediately using this method. All reporters have the right to remain anonymous, and organizers will deal with them impartially.

Please email/call any of the following people and try to explain the situation that occurred and the individuals involved. If possible, please include the time of occurrence. We will deal with the situation as swiftly as we can.
